New Administration Backs Changes, Effective Tomorrow

Changes in operation of the Salem police department, designed, it is said, to increase the department's efficiency and to provide better protection to the public, were announced today by Chief of Police Ralph N. Stoffer and Safety Director John T. Rafferty.

All changes become effective tomorrow, they announced.

Principal item in the revision of the police "beats" is the transfer of Patrolman Nerr Gaunt, senior member of the force, to a permanent daytime shift.

Takes No. 1 Shift
Gaunt, who became a patrolman Feb. 8, 1933, is being assigned to the No. 1 shift, working from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily.

The No. 2, 3, 4 and 5 shifts will continue on the "rotating system" although the hours in some instances have been altered slightly, it is explained.

Under the new schedule, the officer on the No. 2 shift will work from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.; No. 3 and 4, 6 p. m. to 5 a. m.; No. 5, 8 p. m. to 6 a. m.

Patrolman George Reash has been assigned to start the No. 2 shift tomorrow, Clifford Todd and Paul Ormsby on No. 3 and 4, respectively, and James Hassey on No. 5.

The beats will rotate every two weeks, with the exception of Gaunt's.

Safety Director Rafferty handed Chief Stoffer a list of instructions for the police, calling attention to the particular duties of those on the different shifts.

Watch Business District
The officers have been instructed to patrol the business district, front and rear, more frequently than heretofore, and to be on the alert for police station signals. The signals are made by means of red lights at vantage points downtown.

In recognizing Patrolman Gaunt's seniority, Chief Stoffer explained that the permanent day position would be something for other members of the force to strive toward.

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 14.—Dr. F. W. Trader was reelected president at the annual reorganization meeting of the Columbiana board of education Tuesday night. Dallas H. Hepburn was named vice-president and Leo E. Holloway clerk-treasurer.

Holloway has served in this capacity for 12 years without missing a meeting. Regular meetings will be held the first Tuesday of each month. The oath of office was administered to Hepburn and Dr. F. W. Campbell. The former was re-elected for his second term, while Dr. Campbell succeeds Dr. L. H. Nelson, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Rev. G. A. Funk and G. Roy Bilger are the other board members. Charles E. Keiler was named to the Columbiana library board to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Campbell, who resigned.

President Trader has appointed his standing committees as follows: Finance and budget, Bilger and Hepburn; teachers and courses, text-books, Campbell; supplies and buildings and grounds, Hepburn and Funk; athletics, Supt. C. B. Riegler, Principal E. F. Miller, Coaches A. M. Beach and Waldo Ward and Member Trader.

The German high command reported intensified artillery fire on the western front, with scouting troops also more active. The French, reporting a quiet night on the front, said that two German planes were shot down by French planes yesterday.

The British press generally approved President Roosevelt's message to yesterday's opening session of Congress, while official German reaction was reserved.

While the British observed that "the world is learning to find its oracle" in the president, authorized German sources said coolly that the message was for the American people "to decide whether the people was compatible with congressional expressions of neutrality." They said there was "not much new" in the speech.

According to State Patrolman James White, Gore's truck stalled on the highway New Year's day. Gore set out flares and the next day had the truck body hauled away, leaving the cab still partly on the highway.

He failed to return until yesterday. Meanwhile, the flares died out and several motorists almost hit the truck cab.

DEMING'S HOLDS
SALES MEETINGLargest Gathering of Its Kind At Local Plant
Now Under Way

The Deming company is now holding its annual general sales meeting at the factory, the largest of its kind ever held by the company.

Deming salesmen from all parts of the United States are in Salem attending the meetings. Three days, the 3rd, 4th and 5th, are being crowded with instructive talks on selling, production, advertising and other details with which salesmen must be familiar if they are to do their best work in the field.

The trend of the pump industry is toward new types of equipment and in order to keep abreast of the times, Deming engineers have designed many new pumps and numerous changes have been made in the plant to take care of their production in the most efficient manner.

Centrifugal pumps of practically all types, deep well turbines, ejector pumps and horizontal turbine pumps are among the many new pumps placed on the market in the past few years by The Deming company.

The factory has been turning out pumps at the rate of more than one a minute each working day, with the result that there are now in operation literally millions of Deming pumps in more than 50 different countries, handling almost every known variety of liquid.

Scans Message for Issues In Coming Presidential Campaign

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Amid general congressional applause for President Roosevelt's pleas for peace and economy, sharp disputes broke out today over his recommendations for special defense taxes and continuance of the reciprocal trade program.

While awaiting presentation of the curtailed 1940-41 budget, party leaders scanned the chief executive's annual message for issues to be fought out in the coming presidential campaign.

Don't Like Indefiniteness
Democrats were warm in their praise of the tone of the address, especially its re-declaration that the United States must stay out of war while trying to promote peace. Many Republicans joined in lauding this statement, although some termed the entire discussion of foreign and domestic policies too indefinite.

There was bi-partisan acclaim, too, for the promise of retrenchment, but Mr. Roosevelt smilingly retorted to the cheers at yesterday's joint session that "you can't eat your cake and have it too."

Just as both parties are split over extending the reciprocal trade program beyond next June 12, so are they divided over the President's advocacy of sufficient additional taxes to pay for emergency defense spending. One or two congressmen privately predicted that no special tax would be passed at this session.

Sees Measure Next Week
Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee said a measure to extend the reciprocal trade act would be introduced in a week, with public hearings following shortly thereafter. A defense tax bill, he said, will come up after the trade measure is debated.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic floor leader, said he thought the country would approve of the tax suggestion in lieu of increasing the deficit to pay for extra defense needs.

There are many ways of levying the tax, he said, such as lowering income tax exemptions or super-

Roosevelt's Picture of U. S. Spending

Dramatizing proposed expenditures into approximate subdivisions which he said "any layman can understand", President Roosevelt gave this picture, in his budget message to congress today, of where the treasury's money is going:

Purpose	Fiscal Year 1941	Fiscal 1940
National Defense	$1,800,000,000	$1,500,000,000
Work Relief Programs	$1,300,000,000	$1,800,000,000
Agriculture Programs	$900,000,000	$1,300,000,000
Public Works and Investments	$1,100,000,000	$1,400,000,000
Pensions, Social Security, etc.	$1,200,000,000	$1,400,000,000
Interest on the Public Debt	$1,100,000,000	$1,000,000,000
Regular Operating Costs	$1,000,000,000	$1,000,000,000

(The 1940 figures, not included in the budget message, are computed from official sources.)

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—President Roosevelt urged congress today to slash farm, relief and public works spending in a budget message asking $460,000,000 of special defense taxes and proposing one of the smallest deficits in a decade.

If all his recommendations are followed, he forecast a net deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 of $1716,000,000, compared with an estimated $3,933,000,000 for the current year.

Cutting nearly everything in the budget except defense funds, the President estimated expenditures for the next fiscal year at $8,424,000,000, which he said would be $675,000,000 less than this year. Net receipts from existing taxes, he said, would increase $382,000,000 to $5,548,000,000 because of better business.

Mr. Roosevelt bluntly told the legislators intent on making election year records that "those who call for further cuts should have the courage and honesty to specify where they should be made."

For himself, he said, he was satisfied that no lower figures could be attained without impairing the administration of laws or working "undue hardships on individuals and economic groups."

"I refuse to accept the responsibility of adopting either alternative," he added.

Ready to Move On "Reduced Rations"

The message, read to the senate and the house by clerks, said that the government was "prepared to move forward on reduced rations," rather than an abrupt cessation of the deficit "lest, Mr. Roosevelt said, there be a 'too drastic or too sudden curtailment' of support afforded the national economy by government spending."

The President shaved things so close that, on the basis of his figures, the federal debt on June 30, 1941, would be $61,000,000 short of the $45,000,000,000 maximum authorized by law. This would permit congress to defer until next year the controversial issue of whether that maximum should be increased.

The proposals for national defense included emergency funds for operations started since the European war, increased enlistments for the army, navy and coast guard, more anti-spy agents for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, greater protection of the Panama canal, and recommissioning of old navy and coast guard boats.

Mr. Roosevelt did not tell congress how to raise the proposed defense taxes except that they should "follow the accepted principle of good taxation of taxing according to ability to pay and will avoid taxes which decrease consumer buying power."

These specifications appeared to rule out increased excise taxes, and suggested to some officials the possibility of higher income taxes all the way along the line.

Because Mr. Roosevelt sponsored a similar tax for New York when he was its governor, there was speculation that he might favor a flat tax of perhaps 6 per cent on the amount of money now paid in income taxes. For instance, if a person found his income tax to be $100 and the extra tax was 5 per cent, he would pay $105.

The new tax demand was only one of a number of challenges directed by the chief executive at congress.

Assumes Business Will Continue Climb

The slash in relief spending, he explained, is based on the assumption that the business curve will continue upward and permit a reduction in the average number of WPA workers from 1,850,000 a month this year to 1,350,000 next year. But, he said, if business should stop advancing he might have to ask for more relief money.

Likewise, Mr. Roosevelt provided no new money for "parity" payments to farmers—a $225,000,000 item this year—in the hope that recent improvement in farm prices would make such payments unnecessary. This year, the payment per cent of parity (the pre-1914) were designed to assure farmers 75 level), and now cattle prices are above this level while wheat and cotton prices are close to it.

But if farm prices should fall, he said it plain, "future events may call for some appropriations to this end."

As in the case of the extra defense costs, Mr. Roosevelt suggested that new parity payments, if they become necessary, should be financed by additional taxes. This renewed a recommendation which congress ignored in voting parity payments last spring.

All changes become effective tomorrow, they announced.

Principal item in the revision of the police "beat" is the transfer of Patrolman Nerr Gaunt, senior member of the force, to a permanent daytime shift.

Finnish who routed the Russian 163rd division in the greatest single battle of the northern war were reported today to have pushed as far as ten miles into Soviet territory in chasing the scattered remnants of the smashed Red forces.

The Finns were said to have reached the western shores of Lake Kokki in their fourth counter offensive which has carried them into Russia.

By their victory, Finns believed they had ended the possibility of a decisive Russian blow against their land defenses this winter.

Finland hopes that after staving off the Russians during the winter she will have additional foreign help by spring. Chairman Pittman of the foreign relations committee

In the larger but temporarily less violent war between Germany and Great Britain and France, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, the reich's No. 2 Nazi, has assumed supreme direction of the entire German war industry to concentrate and unify everything that concerns Germany's wartime economic policy.

Goering, No. 2 Nazi, thus becomes the "supreme war-economic authority."

All chief offices of the nation having to do with war-economic policy are united in a general council under Goering's presidency.

While the British observed that "the world is learning to find its oracle" in the president, authorized German sources said coolly that the message was for the American people "to decide whether the speech was compatible with congressional expressions of neutrality." Any 4-H club in the county was eligible to compete for this award providing 80% of its members completed their projects and eight club meetings were held during the summer.

The clubs were scored as follows: Percentage of projects completed; 10 points for each team demonstration; 5 points for each individual demonstration; 50 points for complete year's program in writing; 25 points for local achievement program.

Five points for each club member participating in county meetings; average grade of club times 20; 15 points for participating in county contest.

The Butler Sew Merrily Club will give an achievement program at the meeting with the Quota club, at which time they will receive the trophy. The club has as advisors Mrs. Blanche Slutz, Mrs. Mary Coffee, and Miss Mary Shriver.

The 15 members of this club are Bertha Sidwell, president; Esther Bartchey, vice president; Evelyn Hillard, secretary; Verna Freshley, recreation leader; Wanda Zimmerman, treasurer; Janice Freshley, Twila Bartchey, Rita Clare Pottorf, Mary Harris, Jean Henderson, Annie Marie Henderson, Mary Shriver, Carol Freshley, and Mary Jane Coffee. Largest Gathering of Its Kind At Local Plant Now Under Way

The Deming company is now holding its annual general sales meeting at the factory, the largest of its kind ever held by the company.

Deming salesmen from all parts of the United States are in Salem attending the meetings. Three days, the 3rd, 4th and 5th, are being crowded with instructive talks on selling, production, advertising and other details with which salesmen must be familiar if they are to do their best work in the field.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 4.—Five hundred and forty pupils and 20 teachers escaped today as flames enveloped the Point Street grammar school.

The blaze started in the boiler room of the three-story, 50-year-old structure and quickly spread inside partitions throughout the building. Many of those occupying third-floor class rooms were forced to leave by fire escapes.

The children, unable to reach their overcoats, so rapid was the spread of the flames, were sheltered in the nearby Tyler parochial school.

Scans Message for Issues In Coming Presidential Campaign

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Amid general congressional applause for President Roosevelt's pleas for peace and economy, sharp disputes broke out today over his recommendations for special defense taxes and continuance of the reciprocal trade program.

While awaiting presentation of the curtailed 1940-41 budget, party leaders scanned the chief executive's annual message for issues to be fought out in the coming presidential campaign.

Don't Like Indefiniteness
Democrats were warm in their praise of the tone of the address, especially its re-declaration that the United States must stay out of war while trying to promote peace. Many Republicans joined in lauding this statement, although some termed the entire discussion of foreign and domestic policies too indefinite.

There was bi-partisan acclaim, too, for the promise of retrenchment, but Mr. Roosevelt smilingly retorted to the cheers at yesterday's joint session that "you can't eat your cake and have it too."

Just as both parties are split over extending the reciprocal trade program beyond next June 12, so are they divided over the President's advocacy of sufficient additional taxes to pay for emergency defense spending. One or two congressmen privately predicted that no special tax would be passed at this session.

Roosevelt's Picture of U. S. Spending

Dramatizing proposed expenditures into approximate subdivisions which he said "any layman can understand," President Roosevelt gave this picture, in his budget message to congress today, of where the treasury's money is going:

Purpose	Fiscal Year 1941	Fiscal 1940
National Defense	$1,800,000,000	$1,500,000,000
Work Relief Programs	$1,300,000,000	$1,300,000,000
Agriculture Programs	$900,000,000	$1,300,000,000
Public Works and Investments	$1,100,000,000	$1,400,000,000
Pensions, Social Security, etc.	$1,200,000,000	$1,200,000,000
Interest on the Public Debt	$1,100,000,000	$1,000,000,000
Regular Operating Costs	$1,000,000,000	$1,000,000,000

(The 1940 figures, not included in the budget message, are computed from official sources.)

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—President Roosevelt urged congress today to slash farm, relief and public works spending in a budget message asking $460,000,000 of special defense taxes and proposing one of the smallest deficits in a decade.

If all his recommendations are followed, he forecast a net deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 of $1,716,000,000, compared with an estimated $3,933,000,000 for the current year.

Cutting nearly everything in the budget except defense funds, the President estimated expenditures for the next fiscal year at $8,424,000,000, which he said would be $675,000,000 less than this year. Net receipts from existing taxes, not counting social security levies, would increase $382,000,000 to $5,548,000,000 because of better business.

Mr. Roosevelt bluntly told the legislators intent on making election year records that "those who call for further cuts should have the courage and honesty to specify where they should be made."

For himself, he said, he was satisfied that no lower figures could

MENTAL BALANCE

Though not saying so, there is evidence that Walter Lippmann has been making some New Year's resolutions in behalf of his countrymen.

In two recent columns he has argued strongly for mental balance in weighing current affairs, with particular reference to international relationships. In the first of these columns he explained the fallacy of being a "lamb" in political speculation, because like their counterparts in the stock market such "lamb" forget there is always a limit—a bottom and a top to possibilities. The world never reaches the millennium nor Armageddon.

In the second column, Lippmann discussed the value of hindsight in developing foresight. History exposes what happened to great expectations in the past, thereby giving a clue to what probably will happen to great expectations of the present and future. Thus, Germany cannot win a war without naval power; Italy cannot withstand naval power; Spain must be controlled by its geographic position.

There is a limit to Germany's possibilities of destructiveness; there is a limit to Finland's possibilities of resistance; there is a limit to Russia's possibilities of expansion. These are obvious truths, yet the tendency is to believe alternately the best and the worst—to rise too high in hope, or to sink too low in despair. Nothing ever is quite so good as its proponents hope it is, or quite so bad as its opponents are sure it is. Somewhere between extremes lies the ultimate truth. Mr. Lippmann's proposed resolutions for popular thought in America, if that's what they were intended to be, are worth taking to heart.

THE BIG YEAR

Probably every year's a big year in one way or another, but occasionally circumstances combine to make a bigger one than ordinary.

In the United States, 1940 looks like an extraordinarily big year. These are the reasons:

It will be learned in 1940 whether or not seven years of pump priming caused economic recovery.

The political shape of the New Deal will be determined by outcome of the contest for the next Democratic presidential nomination.

A decision will have to be reached on the national debt dilemma: whether the present legal debt limit of $45,000,000,000 is to be lifted or the debt limited to stay inside that figure.

Outcome of the new European war will be foreshadowed by events during the spring and summer; Germany either will strike with its full force or forego what observers are certain is its single, slim chance of imposing its will.

The position of the United States relative to the war will be established in all likelihood, meaning this country either will take further steps to maintain isolation or will let itself be drawn into the turn of events.

The proud claim of Americans that they are the trustees of free government either will be supported or denied by their ability to recognize and solve their problems under the established rules of free government and in accordance with its traditions.

OBJECT LESSON

War news from Finland continues to shed a rosy glow over the skill and tenacity of the defenders. Finns have done more to purge the red army than Joseph Stalin ever dared to try.

But while the inept Russians were losing more battles over the recent holiday weekend something happened on the west coast of the United States—an object lesson.

A good little team from the University of Tennessee went down fighting before a good big team from the University of Southern California. Not only were the winners big but they were numerous and capable.

The Russians cannot be called capable, but they are numerous. When the Finns have killed thousands and driven back tens of thousands there still are hundreds of thousands. The red army is the world's biggest.

The theory of shock troop fighting is to let the enemy wear himself out on second and third line troops, then when he's softened up to move in the regulars.

Finland still hasn't repelled the Russian invaders, despite its excellent showing against the first poorly directed attacks. The story of what will happen when the real attack reaches its climax hasn't been told yet.

YOUNG WARRIOR STERN

Russia's officer problem supposedly has come to a climax in appointment of Gen. Grigory M. Stern to save the day in Finland. Stern is still on the sunny side of 40, indicating the inroads of the purge on seasoned commanders. It is assumed that a country which places its destiny in such youthful hands must be hard up for seasoned timber.

Fact is, seasoned timber on the battlefield seems to be more important than in general headquarters. There is nothing in the tradition of distinguished military leadership that bars youth—if a man approaching 40 still can be called young.

Alexander the Great was going great guns at 16, before he was dry behind the ears. Napoleon's meteoric career zoomed him out of the commonplace at the relatively tender age of 24. It is not age, which tends to heighten the importance of caution, but the firm grasp of possibilities and the imagination to make decisions that nations need to look for in their generals. If Gen. Stern doesn't bring order out of chaos in the Finnish campaign, the disgrace won't be chargeable to his lack of years but to Russia's notorious shortage of fighting ability.

"ZONE OF QUIET"

Frostbite Is Still Hazard
Among Outdoor Workers

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

FROSTBITE does not occur very often in these days of pampered living in steam-heated apartments and houses, and in warm motor cars. Among the more rugged of our population, however, those who work in the great outdoors, it still takes its toll.

Dr. Leopold Bravert of New York, studied the weather conditions which bring frostbite. He worked with the employees of the street-cleaning and snow-shoveling department, in which there are about 400 cases regularly from December to March. He learned the temperature at which frostbite begins to occur is 8 degrees F. Regardless of humidity or other conditions, frostbite is common at that level. Between 8 degrees F. and 14 degrees F. frostbite occurs only if there is a high wind velocity. Above 24 degrees F. frostbite never occurs.

Fatigue, exhaustion, hunger and malnutrition all contribute to the causation of frostbite. In long treks over frozen territory fatigue and exhaustion naturally play a part because they numb the mentality and prevent noticing the pain and tingling sensations that warn of the approach of the danger, and also stop all preventive measures.

Questions and Answers
E. N. "Are bananas fattening or do they give you very much energy? Some people say they are fattening and some tell me they are not."

Answer—Bananas contain about 20 per cent starch (which is the energy-giver of food), one and one-half per cent protein and a half of one per cent fat, which is high for a fruit. They contain phosphorus, iron and calcium, the essential minerals, and vitamins A, C and D, so that they make a pretty well-balanced article of diet. Any food is fattening if you eat enough of it, but the trick about bananas is that they quickly satisfy appetite. That is why Dr. Harrop found them useful in his famous milk and banana reducing cure.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

MENTAL BALANCE

Though not saying so, there is evidence that Walter Lippmann has been making some New Year's resolutions in behalf of his countrymen.

In two recent columns he has argued strongly for mental balance in weighing current affairs, with particular reference to international relationships. In the first of these columns he explained the fallacy of being a "lamb" in political speculation, because like their counterparts in the stock market such "lamb" forget there is always a limit—a bottom and a top to possibilities. The world never reaches the millennium nor Armageddon.

In the second column, Lippmann discussed the value of hindsight in developing foresight. History exposes what happened to great expectations in the past, thereby giving a clue to what probably will happen to great expectations of the present and future. Thus, Germany cannot win a war without naval power; Italy cannot withstand naval power; Spain must be controlled by its geographic position.

There is a limit to Germany's possibilities of destructiveness; there is a limit to Finland's possibilities of resistance; there is a limit to Russia's possibilities of expansion. These are obvious truths, yet the tendency is to believe alternately the best and the worst—to rise too high in hope, or to sink too low in despair. Nothing ever is quite so good as its proponents hope it is, or quite so bad as its opponents are sure it is. Somewhere between extremes lies the ultimate truth. Mr. Lippmann's proposed resolutions for popular thought in America, if that's what they were intended to be, are worth taking to heart.

THE BIG YEAR

Probably every year's a big year in one way or another, but occasionally circumstances combine to make a bigger one than ordinary.

In the United States, 1940 looks like an extraordinarily big year. These are the reasons:

It will be learned in 1940 whether or not seven years of pump priming caused economic recovery.

The political shape of the New Deal will be determined by outcome of the contest for the next Democratic presidential nomination.

A decision will have to be reached on the national debt dilemma: whether the present legal debt limit of $45,000,000,000 is to be lifted or the debt limited to stay inside that figure.

Outcome of the new European war will be foreshadowed by events during the spring and summer; Germany either will strike with its full force or forego what observers are certain is its single, slim chance of imposing its will.

The position of the United States relative to the war will be established in all likelihood, meaning this country either will take further steps to maintain isolation or will let itself be drawn into the turn of events.

The proud claim of Americans that they are the trustees of free government either will be supported or denied by their ability to recognize and solve their problems under the established rules of free government and in accordance with its traditions.

OBJECT LESSON

War news from Finland continues to shed a rosier glow over the skill and tenacity of the defenders. Finns have done more to purge the red army than Joseph Stalin ever dared to try.

But while the inept Russians were losing more battles over the recent holiday weekend something happened on the west coast of the United States—an object lesson.

A good little team from the University of Tennessee went down fighting before a good big team from the University of Southern California. Not only were the winners big, but they were numerous and capable.

The Russians cannot be called capable, but they are numerous. When the Finns have killed thousands and driven back tens of thousands there still are hundreds of thousands. The red army is the world's biggest.

The theory of shock troop fighting is to let the enemy wear himself out on second and third line troops, then when he's softened up to move in the regulars.

Finland still hasn't repelled the Russian invaders, despite its excellent showing against the first poorly directed attacks. The story of what will happen when the real attack reaches its climax hasn't been told yet.

YOUNG WARRIOR STERN

Russia's officer problem supposedly has come to a climax in appointment of Gen. Grigory M. Stern to save the day in Finland. Stern is still on the sunny side of 40, indicating the inroads of the purge on seasoned commanders. It is assumed that a country which places its destiny in such youthful hands must be hard up for seasoned timber.

Fact is, seasoned timber on the battlefield seems to be more important than in general headquarters. There is nothing in the tradition of distinguished military leadership that bars youth—if a man approaching 40 still can be called young.

Alexander the Great was going great guns at 16, before he was dry behind the ears. Napoleon's meteoric career zoomed him out of the commonplace at the relatively tender age of 24. It is not age, which tends to heighten the importance of caution, but the firm grasp of possibilities and the imagination to make decisions that nations need to look for in their generals. If Gen. Stern doesn't bring order out of chaos in the Finnish campaign, the disgrace won't be chargeable to his lack of years but to Russia's notorious shortage of fighting ability.

FOR Friday, January 5

AN EXCEEDINGLY lively and enterprising day, with much stirring to further ambitions and aspirations, is read from the prevailing astral influences. Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a very progressive, productive and prosperous year, with all things moving in the direction of advanced goals and lofty ambitions at high tempo and with much veer and initiative. Those of position, prestige and financial standing heartily co-operate, especially those in politics, diplomacy, secret bodies or large corporations. Frostbite Is Still Hazard Among Outdoor Workers

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

FROSTBITE does not occur very often in these days of pampered living in steam-heated apartments and houses, and in warm motor cars. Among the more rugged of our population, however, those who work in the great outdoors, it still takes its toll.

Dr. Leopold Brainin, of New York, studied the weather conditions which bring frostbite. He worked with the employees of the street-cleaning and snow-shovel-

Fatigue, exhaustion, hunger and malnutrition all contribute to the causation of frostbite. In long treks over frozen territory fatigue and exhaustion naturally play a part because they numb the mentally and prevent noticing the pain and tingling sensations that warn of the approach of the danger, and also stop all preventive measures.

Grease Another Factor Grease is another contributory factor. The clothing makes the body warm because of the air layers between the fibers. When these air cells are filled up by oil or grease, it makes the clothing less protective.

Constrained position or posture for a prolonged time without exercise conduces towards the production of frostbite.

Essentially, frostbite is a kind of gangrene—a shutting off of the blood vessels to the affected area. Naturally then, the terminal places on the body, where the circulation is scanty, are the places affected: the tip of the nose, the ears, the fingers and toes. Especially important in prevention is the way the feet are stockinged and shod. For outdoor work or exercise in frostbite weather, thick stockings that have plenty of air spaces are essential.

Not Wise Remedy "Rub the affected parts with snow" is the old household wisdom about the treatment of frostbite, but it is not very wise wisdom. It is, in fact, barbarous because snow is gritty and may not only hurt, but actually injure.

"Gradual warming," with the accents on the gradual, is proper treatment, however, and is really what lies back of the "rub with snow" idea. The best initial source of warmth is your own body or that of a companion—hands pressed on the frozen area and accompanied by rubbing to bring back the circulation. Getting indoors and in front of a radiator or good fire can be postponed until later—until circulation is established.

Latest movie star to enter the field of mystery-drama is Charlie McCarthy. Edgar Bergen's wisecracking character invention, starred in "Charlie McCarthy, Detective" at the State tonight, Friday and Saturday.

'Recommended Reading' Topic At Meeting Of Book Club

Mrs. C. F. Evans, second vice president, was in charge of the book club meeting yesterday afternoon at the library, in the absence of Mrs. Ross Clay, president.

The program on "Recommended Reading" opened with a review of the humorous, biographical best-seller, "Life With Father," by Clarence S. Day, which has been produced successfully on the stage and will shortly become a motion picture.

The book is a group of essays on the life of a New York family in the "brownstone front" era, with most of the members of the Day family appearing in the story. The figure dominating the entire story is, however, the author's father.

Short magazine reviews were given as follows: Mrs. J. R. Stratton and Miss Mary B. McCarty, the "National Geographic," Mrs. Orl Saner, "Asia," and Mrs. C. L. Hasough, the "American."

A humorous paper on "New Year's Resolutions" was presented by Mrs. Ralph Long as the concluding feature of the program.

Musical entertainment included selections by a string trio: Violin, Robert King; viola, Paul Evans; piano, Emma Bauman; and violin and piano numbers by Deborah and Priscilla Beery.

During the business meeting Mrs. S. R. Shive was elected as a new member. Plans were made to buy

POSIES GIVE ROMANTIC TOUCH TO FORMAL FROCKS

One of the most charming old customs to be revived this season is that of wearing real flowers to dress up evening, daytime and sports clothes. Anne Shirley, center, has selected a crown of curls and purple violets to wear at parties. The cluster of violets makes a beautiful "top-knot" for her formal hair arrangement, and matches her purple crepe frock, amethyst heart pendant and amethyst earrings. The model in silver cellophane and net dancing frock, left, with tiny waist and bouffant skirt, is wearing a headdress of rubrum lilies, orchids or gardenias with a matching bracelet corsage. The photograph, right, shows a bonnet headdress. It is made of red roses, carnation and gladioli petals, and with it goes an old-fashioned bouquet with ribbon streamers. This is the perfect complement to the frock of hunter's green taffeta, with bustle bow and panel of red.

1939 RAINFALL BELOW NORMAL

Temperature Was Slightly Above, Copeland Observes

Last year closed with a below-normal precipitation and temperature slightly above normal, according to the annual report of Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, U. S. cooperative weather observer.

Columbiana county's rainfall in 1939 totaled 35.35 inches, compared with 39.99 inches the previous year and the normal of 37.46. Copeland's averages are based on records kept during the last 46 years.

The temperature in 1939 averaged 50.3 degrees, compared to the normal of 48.5 and the 50.5 degrees in 1938.

Snowfall last year totaled 26 inches, or 8.2 inches more than the total in 1938, Copeland says.

In short, 1939 was an average year, January was the coldest month with an average temperature of 30.1 degrees June, July and August were the hottest months, temperatures averaging 69.2 degrees.

The highest temperature, 95 degrees, was recorded Sept. 7 and 15. The low reading was 9 below zero on Feb. 16. July was the wettest month, with 5.37 inches, and November, the driest, with .37 inches.

Columbiana county farm crops, as a result of the agreeable weather, were normal or above normal, according to the observer.

Concerning the start of the new year, Copeland predicts continued cold this month, with plenty of snow and not too much sub-zero temperature.

December came to a close with the coldest weather of the current winter season. The 137 total rainfall was below normal. Snowfall was 3.5 inches. Although water is scarce, wheat plants are in fair condition, he adds.

Last month had a maximum temperature of 60 and minimum of 7, compared to 55 and 8 a year ago. There was a 34-degree range in temperature Dec. 18.

The 46-year average in temperature for December is 29.2, records show, while the average precipitation for the same month is 2.63 inches. 1931 had the warmest December, with a 38.1 average. The coldest was in 1917, with an average of 19.2 degrees.

Short magazine reviews were given as follows: Mrs. J. R. Stratton and Miss Mary B. McCarty, the "National Geographic"; Mrs. Ori Sauer, "Abe"; and Mrs. C. L. Hartsough, the "American."

A humorous paper on "New Year's Resolutions" was presented by Mrs. Ralph Long as the concluding feature of the program.

Musical entertainment included selections by a string trio: Violin, Robert King; viola, Paul Evans; piano, Emma Bauman; and violin and piano numbers by Deborah and Priscilla Beery.

OLD JAIL TO BE VACATED FEB. 1

Commissioners Awaiting Contract From Mahoning County

LISBON, Jan. 4.—The Columbian county jail will be vacated on Feb. 1 county commissioners indicated today, providing terms of a contract now being drawn up by Mahoning county authorities meets with approval when submitted to the local board.

Commissioners John E. Smith, Frank Fisher, and Austin Getz, Prosecutor Stouffer and Commissioner's Clerk Charles McLaughlin on Wednesday conferred with Mahoning county officials in regard to the boarding of prisoners in the county jail at Youngstown. The Mahoning officials again affirmed their bid of 60-cents per day for boarding each prisoner, including meals, laundry and medical care, an arrangement which is apparently satisfactory to the Columbian county board pending arrival of a written contract.

Commissioners today stated no attempt will be made to raze the old jail building following the abandonment until the issue of ownership which has arisen over the property, if it is totally abandoned, is decided. The question arose today as to whether the property would revert back to the original estate if the jail were totally abandoned and torn down without immediate steps toward rebuilding, and abstracts are now being prepared in the matter.

Until the matter is finally decided, an office will be maintained in the abandoned building for the maintenance of service throughout the county.

IDAHO FALLS, Ida.—The shipments of Idaho potatoes are running approximately 300 cars better than in 1938, the agricultural marketing service reported.

OLD JAIL TO BE VACATED FEB. 1

Commissioners Awaiting Contract From Mahoning County

LISBON, Jan. 4.—The Columbiana county jail will be vacated on Feb. 1, county commissioners indicated today, providing terms of a contract now being drawn up by Mahoning county authorities meets with approval when submitted to the local board.

Commissioners John E. Smith, Frank Fisher, and Austin Getz, Prosecutor Stouffer and Commissioner's Clerk Charles McLaughlin on Wednesday conferred with Mahoning county officials in regard to the boarding of prisoners in the county jail at Youngstown. The Mahoning officials again affirmed their bid of 60-cents per day for boarding each prisoner, including meals, laundry and medical care, an arrangement which is apparently satisfactory to the Columbiana county board pending arrival of a written contract.

Commissioners today stated no attempt will be made to raze the old jail building following the abandonment, until the issue of ownership which has arisen over the property, if it is totally abandoned, is decided. The question arose today as to whether the property would revert back to the original estate if the jail were totally abandoned and torn down without immediate steps toward rebuilding, and abstracts are now being prepared in the matter.

Until the matter is finally decided, an office will be maintained in the abandoned building for the maintenance of service throughout the county.

IDAHO FALLS, Ida.—The shipments of Idaho potatoes are running approximately 300 cars better than in 1938, the agricultural marketing service reported.

QUAKERS TO PLAY TWO GAMES THIS WEEKEND

HIGH PASSERS BATTLE DOVER FRIDAY NIGHT

Salem Quintet To Meet
Youngstown Chaney
Here Saturday

Looking at the new year as a means of gaining a fresh start in their 1939-40 basketball campaign, Salem High school's twice-beaten Quakers will seek victories in two games this weekend.

The Quakers, who lost two of three games in the '39 portion of their 1939-40 slate, will face Dover's classy Crimson brigade in their first start of the new year at Dover tomorrow night.

At Home Saturday

They will be at home Saturday night, playing Youngstown Chaney at the High school gym. The Chaney game was originally scheduled to be played in Youngstown, but was transferred here last week because construction of the new Chaney gym has not been completed.

Holders of season booklets will be admitted to the Chaney game if they show their booklets at the gate.

The invasion of Dover tomorrow followed by the home game against Chaney Saturday will send the Quakers into action on successive nights for the first time of the current season. Their previous games have been separated by several days rest.

Starting from the sting of two straight set-backs, the Quakers are expected to have their hands full in bidding for victory over Dover's strong team.

The Crimson cagers have lost only one game to date, to their closest rival, New Philadelphia, by a 26-20 count. Before losing to New Philly, Dover rang up three straight wins, numbering among their victims a highly-touted Columbus Central team.

Swinderman Is Star

Mainstay of the Crimson's first string unit is Don Swinderman, who was a regular last season. Other members of Dover's varsity five are Miller, who pairs with Swinderman at the forward posts, Center Sewell and Guards Becker and Herman.

In facing Dover, the Quakers will be seeking their second victory of the season. Their first win was scored over Lisbon in the opening game. Since defeating Lisbon, they have lost to Ravenna, 20-18, and the Alumni, 24-22, in overtime.

The Salem reserves will be in action along with the varsity on both nights this weekend. The Quaker subs will face Dover reserves at 7 tomorrow night in the preliminary to the varsity game, which is scheduled to start at 8.

On Saturday night, Salem and Chaney reserves will clash at 7:30. The varsity game Saturday night will start at 9, one-half hour later than usual. The change in starting time has been made in order to allow business men and persons employed in downtown stores to see the game.

Faculty Manager Frederick E. Cope announced today that A. B. Long of Newark and James Morgan of New Philadelphia will officiate at the Salem-Dover game, while Mace Colclough of Youngstown will referee the Salem-Chaney contest.

"FREEZE" BALL TO BEAT RIVAL

Miami Cagers Stall In
Last 5 Minutes, Top
Dayton, 40-35

(By Associated Press)

Because they emulated the weatherman and "froze" the ball, Miami University's basketball machine today day boxed a record of four victories in five encounters.

The freeze play last night balked a determined University of Dayton quintet in the last five minutes of their game. The Redskins won, 40 to 35, after holding a 25 to 15 half-time advantage. Forward Long paced the Miami contingent with 12 points. Forward Froendhoff of Dayton piled up 14 markers for the leaders.

Ohio State drubbed a stubborn University of California team, 49 to 45, but the invaders pressed the Bucks down the stretch. The victory was State's third in six games. The half-time score was 27 to 25 in Ohio's favor. Junior Jed Mees of Pomery led the victors with 17 points.

Extend Streak

Ohio university's Bobcats continued their winning streak on an eastern swing by measuring Scranton (Pa.) university, 50 to 45. Frankie Baumholtz set the tempo for the Buckeye team with 17 points.

Mount Union tallied its first Ohio conference victory of the season by nocking out Case School of Applied Science, 36 to 33. Case threatened in the final seconds but a free toss put the tilt away for the purple.

Penn State rang up its third Ohio victory of the week by trouncing Kent State university, 36 to 21, in a hard fought battle. Free throws determined the outcome. Penn State looped 13 out of 32 charity chances while Kent State made but six in 48. The visitors led at the half, 17 to 10.

Alfred Holbrook rallied in the second half to defeat Ashland (Ky.) Junior college, 47 to 46.

Sportsmen Bid To Make Quail Shooting Lawful

—BY ED. EASTERLY

COLUMBUS, Jan. 4.—A group of sportsmen is quietly sounding out sentiment for lawful quail shooting in the southern part of Ohio during the pheasant season.

Fearful of precipitating a storm of criticism from farm interests and the Auburn clubs they are proceeding slowly until they obtain heavy support for taking quail off the songbird list, where it is protected by statute. They contend the law is a discrimination against southern Ohio hunters.

The northern and central Ohio hunters have their pheasant shooting, but this popular game bird is a rarity in the southern section. The quail, however, is plentiful there.

Those who want to shoot quail would like to know the real sentiment of the farmers on the question. They wonder if the leaders of farm organizations, who are overwhelmingly opposed to quail shooting, actually represent the viewpoint of the land owners.

Two recent polls caused much speculation. About 60 farm organization leaders were asked for their opinion on quail shooting. Only three favored it. Yet, one sportsman who hunts all over the state questioned 12 landowners and none objected to taking quail. Some were grange members. The writer has met very few land owners who objected to quail shooting.

It seems logical that if a predominant number of hunters in one section of the state want to shoot quail, they should be granted that permission.

The hunters with this argument point to the arrangement on red fox. Fox hunting is a big sport in southern Ohio, so the red fox may be taken there only in certain seasons. In the northern counties, however, it is considered vermin and may be taken year round.

Numerous attempts have been made in the legislature to obtain repeal of the quail law. The rural legislators raise more than one objection to the arrangement. Numerous attempts have been made in the legislature to obtain repeal of the quail law. The rural legislators raise more than one objection to the arrangement.

OSSES CONTINUE WINNING STREAK

Employment Service Tops
Demings for Seventh
Straight Victory

A lop-sided victory over Demings at the Memorial building last night enabled the Ohio State Employment Service hoopers to remain unbeaten in the city's Class A basketball league and extend their winning streak to seven straight games.

The O. S. E. S. stars, first round champions of the Class A circuit, enjoyed their biggest scoring spree of the season as they trimmed the Pumpmunkers, 51 to 39. It was their second win of the league's second round race.

Ronnie Schaffer and Rudy Schuster collected 15 points apiece to share scoring honors for the league leaders. D. Wiggers and Lora paced Demings with 15 and 12 points, respectively.

Making their first start of the second round, the Carroll Club passers walloped Altohouse Motors, 48 to 27, in the other Class A game.

Lead Throughout Game

The Carroll Club led 12-4 at the end of the first period, 22-10 at halftime and 35-18 at the close of the third quarter. Clay Raynes hooped nine field goals to lead the scoring with 18 points.

The victory was the Carroll Club's first of the second round, and its fourth of the season. It was the Motors fourth defeat in league competition to date.

A three-way tie for first place in the first round race of the Class B league was broken as the Carroll Cadets topped the Christians 27 to 15 for their fourth win in five games.

The Cadets triumph gave them sole possession of first place in the Class B circuit. The Christians, who were previously tied for the lead, dropped to third place because of the defeat.

The Carroll Clowns gained their first victory of the season in the other Class B game, nocking out the Young People's Catholic Club, 28 to 26, after a nip-and-tuck battle.

Against the east it won nine and lost three, against the south and southwest, won three and lost one, and against leading clubs in its own backyard, won nine and lost eight. Twenty-three other victories were registered against less formidable midwestern opposition.

GRISSOM GOES TO YANKS FOR NEWARK STAR

Yankees Fool League Rivals
By Trading
With Reds

By JUDSON BAILEY
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The New York Yankees obtained Pitcher Lefty Lee Grissom from the Cincinnati Reds today in exchange for Righthander Joe Bogs of the world champions' Newark farm and thereby confounded the "stop the Yankees" movement in the American league.

Barred by a rule passed last month from trading within their own league as long as they remain champions, the Yankees unobtrusively sidled over to the senior circuit and acquired one of the best southpaw pitching prospects in the major leagues.

The swap was made on waivers and President Ed Barrow of the New York club made no mention of any cash being involved.

It was the kind of a deal that might help both clubs, but the potentialities seemed all in favor of the Yankees juggernaut.

Grissom was of little or no help in the Reds' march to the National league pennant last season, winning nine and losing seven, the year before he had the negligible record of two victories and three defeats.

Ailing Both Times

Grissom was of little or no help campaigns. He showed tremendous promise in his first full season with Cincinnati in 1937 by winning 12 and losing 17.

He showed what appeared to be a complete recovery of this form at the end of last year by taking two sizzling pitching performances from the Pittsburgh Pirates, one a five-hitter and the other a seven-inning shutout.

In his only World Series appearance he set down four Yankees in a row—all he faced in 1-1-3 innings of the third game.

Twenty-seven years old, Grissom is an eccentric but willing worker. Feeling right, and with the Yankees behind him, he is capable of winning 25 games. Coming at the time Lefty Gomez is fast fading, the lean Texan looks like the answer to McCarthy's prayer.

Intramural Basketball

By GAIL STEWART

Intramural basketball leagues at Salem High school resumed their 1939-40 schedules last night after a two-week lay-off during the Christmas holidays.

In two Class A games, the Ghosts and Mustangs gained victories while in a pair of Class B games the Bruins and Mickies came through with triumphs.

The Ghosts nosed out the Crimsons, 18 to 17, with Dixon setting the pace for the winners by scoring seven points. Santini rang up one field goal and five free throws to score seven points for the Crimsons.

The Mustangs had easy sledding in defeating the Dopes, 27 to 17. B. Syppko led the scoring for the Mustangs with 15 points. Dan counted three field goals for the losers.

The Bruins were extended the limit to nose out the Hornets, 16 to 15. Weigand scored six points for the Bruins and Scullion tallied seven for the Hornets.

The Tigers tasted defeat at the hands of the Mickies, 29 to 4. Volio set the scoring pace with six field goals.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Clemson will give Jess Neely a well-deserved raise and hopes it will cool off those Rice scouts.... They pulled Steve Dudas out of the Billy Conn bout because he has a cold. (The box office was sniffling, too).... And Henry Cooper, who'll sub for Dudas, let himself in for a very tough evening Jan. 1 by refusing to put blank to pose with Conn yesterday.... Disturbing reports from Dixie say Sweet Lallane, one of the niftiest backs in the Republic, has run afoul of the scholastic traps at North Carolina and will flip no passes next season.... Jack Dempsey, who flew to Manila to referee a fight, liked the airways so well he took a side jaunt over to China just to buy his little girls some Xmas presents.

Why Bring That Up?

The Cincinnati ball club has issued an attractive New Year's booklet in which the club's course through the 1939 season is charted by headlines from the Rhineland papers.... One of the banners, printed almost on the eve of the World Series, screamed: "We've waited 20 years for this!" Ouch!

During the Cotton Bowl game one of the South Carolina sports writers sent a note down to Coach Frank Leahy asking that someone besides Toczykowski catch the passes because they couldn't spell his name.... Tom Harmon, the Michigan grid star, who feated track last spring, will go out for baseball this year.... Mello Bettina is 5 to 9 over Fred Apostoli in the Garden tomorrow night.... Ford Frick, president of the National league, has become a curling fan and plays two or three nights weekly.

Stanford's new coach will be announced within a week. And if Doc Sutherland doesn't get it, where'll he light? West Virginia? Bill Kern is all but signed there. Rice? There are too many passes in the South-west conference to suit the doctor. It looks like the pros for him.

Today's Guest Star

Arthur Sampson, Boston Herald: "Teams that play Southern Cal should hold out for 12-minute quarters.... In the last two Rose Bowl games the Trojans have scored three touchdowns.... Two of these were made within two minutes of the final whistle.... The other came about a minute before the end of the first half."

First sour note of 1940 was John Henry Lewis' announcement he'll attempt a ring comeback.... Question is, what's he going to use for eyes?

REDS' MANAGER PREPARES FOR 1940 CAMPAIGN

QUAKERS TO PLAY TWO GAMES THIS WEEKEND

HIGH PASSERS BATTLE DOVER FRIDAY NIGHT

Salem Quintet To Meet
Youngstown Chaney
Here Saturday

Looking at the new year as a means of gaining a fresh start in their 1939-40 basketball campaign, Salem High school's twice-beaten Quakers will seek victories in two games this weekend.

The Quakers, who lost two of three games in the 39 portion of their 1939-40 slate, will face Dover's classy Crimson brigade in their first start of the new year at Dover tomorrow night.

At Home Saturday

They will be at home Saturday night, playing Youngstown Chaney at the High school gym. The Chaney game was originally scheduled to be played in Youngstown, but was transferred here last week because construction of the new Chaney gym has not been completed.

Holders of season booklets will be admitted to the Chaney game if they show their booklets at the gate.

The invasion of Dover tomorrow followed by the home game against Chaney Saturday will send the Quakers into action on successive nights for the first time of the current season. Their previous games have been separated by several days rest.

Smarting from the sting of two straight set-backs, the Quakers are expected to have their hands full in bidding for victory over Dover's strong team.

The Crimson cagers have lost only one game to date, to their closest rival, New Philadelphia, by a 26-20 count. Before losing to New Philly, Dover rang up three straight wins, numbering among their victims a highly-touted Columbus Central team.

Swinderman Is Star
Mainstay of the Crimson's first string unit is Don Swinderman, who was a regular last season. Other members of Dover's varsity five are Miller, who pairs with Swinderman at the forward posts, Center Sewell and Guards Becker and Herman.

In facing Dover, the Quakers will be seeking their second victory of the season. Their first win was scored over Lisbon in the opening game. Since defeating Lisbon, they have lost to Ravenna, 20-18, and the Alumni, 24-22, in overtime.

The Alumni reserves will be in action along with the varsity on both nights this weekend. The Quaker subs will face Dover reserves at 7 tomorrow night in the preliminary to the varsity game, which is scheduled to start at 8.

On Saturday night, Salem and Chaney reserves will clash at 7:30. The varsity game Saturday night will start at 9, one-half hour later than usual. The change in starting time has been made in order to allow business men and persons employed in downtown stores to see the game.

Faculty Manager Frederick E. Cope announced today that A. B. Long of Newark and James Morgan of New Philadelphia will officiate the Salem-Dover game, while Mace Colclough of Youngstown will referee the Salem-Chaney contest.

"FREEZE" BALL

Miami Cagers Stall In
Last 5 Minutes, Top
Dayton, 40-35

(By Associated Press)
Because they emulated the weatherman and "froze" the ball, Miami University's basketball machine today boasted a record of four victories in five encounters.

The freeze play last night balked a determined University of Dayton quintet in the last five minutes of their game. The Redskins won, 40-35, after holding a 25 to 15 half-time advantage. Forward Long paced the Miami contingent with 12 points. Forward Frohndorf of Dayton piled up 14 markers for the losers.

Ohio State drubbed a stubborn University of California team, 49 to 45, but the invaders pressed the Bucks down the stretch. The victory was State's third in six games. The half-time score was 27 to 25 in Ohio's favor. Junior Jed Mees of Pomeroy led the victors with 17 points.

Extend Streak
Ohio University's Bobcats continued their winning streak on an eastern swing by measuring Scranton (Pa.) university, 50 to 45. Frankie Baumholtz set the tempo for the Buckeye team with 17 points.

Mount Union tallied its first Ohio conference victory of the season by nosing out Case School of Applied Science, 36 to 33. Case threatened in the final seconds but a free toss put the tilt away for the purple.

Penn State rang up its third Ohio victory of the week by trouncing Kent State University, 26 to 21, in a hard fought battle. Free throws determined the outcome. Penn State looped 13 out of 32 free chances while Kent State made but six in 48. The visitors led at the half, 17 to 10.

Alfred Holbrook rallied in the second half to defeat Ashland (Ky.) Junior college, 47 to 46.

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified adv. columns.

Sportsmen Bid To Make Quail Shooting Lawful

BY ED. EASTERLY

COLUMBUS, Jan. 4.—A group of sportsmen is quietly sounding out sentiment for lawful quail shooting in the southern part of Ohio during the pheasant season.

Fearful of precipitating a storm of criticism from farm interests and the Audubon clubs they are proceeding slowly until they obtain heavy support for taking quail off the songbird list, where it is protected by statute. They contend the law is a discrimination against southern Ohio hunters.

The northern and central Ohio hunters have their pheasant shooting, but this popular game bird is a rarity in the southern section. The quail, however, is plentiful there.

Those who want to shoot quail would like to know the real sentiment of the farmers on the question. They wonder if the leaders of farm organizations, who are overwhelmingly opposed to quail shooting, actually represent the viewpoint of the land owners.

Two recent polls caused much speculation.

About 60 farm organization leaders were asked for their opinion on quail shooting. Only three favored it.

Yet, one sportsman who hunts all over the state questioned 12 landowners and none objected to the taking quail. Some were grange members. The writer has met very few land owners who objected to quail shooting.

It seems logical that if a predominant number of hunters in one section of the state want to shoot quail, they should be granted that permission.

The hunters with this argument point to the arrangement on red fox. Fox hunting is a big sport in southern Ohio, so the red fox may be taken there only in certain seasons. In the northern counties, however, it is considered vermin and may be taken the year round.

Numerous attempts have been made in the legislature to obtain repeal of the quail law. The rural legislators raise more cain about this issue than any other and always have obtained enough support from their city colleagues to defeat the anti-quail bills by a large margin.

OSSES CONTINUE WINNING STREAK

Employment Service Tops
Demings for Seventh
Straight Victory

A lop-sided victory over Demings at the Memorial building last night enabled the Ohio State Employment Service hoopers to remain unbeaten in the city's Class A basketball league and extend their winning streak to seven straight games.

The O. S. E. S. stars, first round champions of the Class A circuit, enjoyed their biggest scoring spree of the season as they trimmed the Pumpmunkers, 51 to 39. It was their second win of the league's second round race.

Bennie Schaeffer and Rudy Schuster collected 15 points apiece to share scoring honors for the league leaders. D. Wiggers and Lora paced Demings with 15 and 12 points, respectively.

Making their first start of the second round, the Carroll Club passers walloped Althouse Motors, 48 to 27, in the other Class A game.

Lead Throughout Game

The Carroll Club led 12-4 at the end of the first period, 22-10 at halftime and 35-18 at the close of the third quarter. Clay Raynes hooped nine field goals to lead the scoring with 18 points.

The victory was the Carroll Club's first of the second round and its fourth of the season. It was the Motors fourth defeat in league competition to date.

A three-way tie for first place in the first round race of the Class B league was broken as the Carroll Cadets topped the Christians, 27 to 15, for their fourth win in five games.

The Cadets triumph gave them sole possession of first place in the Class B circuit. The Christians, who were previously tied for the lead, dropped to third place because of the defeat.

The Carroll Clowns gained their first victory of the season in the other Class B game, nosing out the Young People's Catholic Club, 28 to 26, after a nip-and-tuck battle.

The Cincinnati ball club has issued an attractive New Year's booklet in which the club's course through the 1939 season is charted by headlines from the Rhineland papers.... One of the banners, printed almost on the eve of the World Series, screamed: "We've waited 20 years for this!" Ouch!

During the Cotton Bowl game one of the South Carolina sports writers sent a note down to Coach Frank Leahy asking that someone besides Toczylowski catch the passes because they couldn't spell his name.... Tom Harmon, the Michigan grid star, who feated track last spring, will go out for baseball this year.... Melio Bettina is 5 to 9 over Fred Apostol in the Garden tomorrow night.... Ford Frick, president of the National league, has become a curling fan and plays two or three nights weekly.

Stanford's new coach will be announced within a week. And if Doc Sutherland doesn't get it, where'll he light? West Virginia? Bill Kern is all but signed there. Rice? There are too many passes in the Southwest conference to suit the doctor. It looks like the pros for him.

Today's Guest Star

Arthur Sampson, Boston Herald: "Teams that play Southern Cal should hold out for 12-minute quarters.... In the last two Rose Bowl games the Trojans have scored three touchdowns.... Two of these were made within two minutes of the final whistle.... The other came about a minute before the end of the first half."

First sour note of 1940 was John Henry Lewis' announcement he'll attempt a ring comeback.... Question is, what's he going to use for eyes?

REDS' MANAGER PREPARES FOR 1940 CAMPAIGN

Bill McKechnie Due In Cincinnati Today to Make Plans

CINCINNATI, Jan. 4.—Here it is the middle of the coldest spell of the coldest winter in four years and Bill McKechnie is thinking about ball games already.

The canny manager of the National league's champions, the Cincinnati Reds, is due back in town today to jaw with the front office on hopes, prospects, plans, and everything else that take up a baseball man's mind, day or night, winter or summer.

Preceding him by a good many hours were rejuvenated rumors of trades. Ernie Lombardi again is supposed to go to Brooklyn for Blimp Phelps, also a catcher. As far as outward physical aspects go that would be about six of one and a half dozen of the other.

The Reds probably still would give anything short of William Henry Harrison's statue for Max West, the Boston Bees' left fielder, but McKechnie sent word ahead of the train:

"No trades or deals unless they will benefit the club."

Another Chance

General Manager Warren C. Giles, a little baffled because of his failure to pull anything out of the December baseball conventions here except Pitcher Jim Turner of Boston, looked ahead to the scheduled convention in New York next month.

From all appearances, however, the brains of the Reds are making their plans on the basis of present equipment. McKechnie thinks he can get along with Vince Di Maggio in left field and the angil chorus has died down for Lombardi.

Vince, one of the sweetest defensive men in the game, undoubtedly would fill that left field hole like electric light. A lot of those 1939 singles and doubles that Wally Berger and six other guys couldn't get their hooks into

BOWLING RESULTS

Three of four top-ranking teams in the Pastime league made clean sweeps in their matches at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

The first-place Columbiana Firestones took three games from the Sohioans, the second-place Tyson's Service won three heats with the Salem Label Co. and the fourth-place Eaton's Service of Columbiana posted three wins over the Famous Dairy.

Citizen's Ice & Coal, current third-place team, was held to two wins by the Columbiana Barons. Other matches gave Jr. C. of C. No. 1 two victories over Bossert's and Loudon V-8's three wins over Jr. C. of C. No. 2 on a forfeit.

Jimmy Yuhasz led the individual firing in the Pastime circuit, hanging up a 617 series on games of 202, 225 and 210.

The leading S. S. Kresge ladies recorded wins No. 40 and 41 as they took two out of three games with the Electric Furnace in one of three Masonic Ladies' league matches at the Masonic lanes.

The second-place Ohio Edison women won three games over the fourth-place Elks to slice Kresge's lead from 10 to nine games. Work's pulled up even with the Salem News in a tie for fifth place by winning two out of three games with the News.

"LOVE'S INTERLUDE" by -MAY- CHRISTIE

CHAPTER XXI

"Won't you smoke? Something tells me you'd enjoy a pipe," Moira told Rodney.

"Omniscient girl! Dare I? Most women object to a pipe, I find."

"Not I. Father long ago broke me in to that. Often I worked nights in his study—he liked to have me there—We were both studying—and often the room was blue with the smoke of his pipe."

"Your virtues grow on me every minute," grinned Rodney. "Do you know you're rather an exceptional girl? Take my sister Amanda, for example. She raises a holy howl if even the door of my den is open while I'm enjoying a pipe."

Moira thought: "She would! She's just that kind."

She smiled at her visitor. "You and she are two quite different people, aren't you, Dr. Stone?"

"That's a fact. She loves Society shindigs, while I hate them, though I do have to put in an appearance now and again. I wish Amanda would go in for something—any thing—to take her mind off Society and contract and the eternal cocktail-parties. I tell her she's naturally bright, but her talent's turned in the wrong direction."

"She does work for charity and the hospital," Moira defended her rather to her own surprise.

"Oh, the time and effort in raising money the way Amanda and her cronies raise it—I mean balls and bridge-drives and that kind of shindig—could be, where charity and themselves are concerned, more profitably employed. They're really only pretexts for continuing the frivolities. You'd be surprised how little money actually goes to charity from the card-parties, for example, even when they seem to be howling successes."

"How's that?"

Mismanagement. Ignorance of the rudiments of finance. Spending too much money on refreshments, especially of the more potent kind! Expensive orchestras engaged for the balls, too. Expensive halls. Graft. Too many free tickets wangled."

Moira said, shyly: "I enjoy the little bit of work I do at the hospital."

His face lit up at once. "Ah, that's different! That's going to the source. That's direct charity of a real kind. I'm not much hand at quoting the scriptures, but charity does and should mean love coming from the heart and translated into practical labor, however unspectacular and humdrum it may seem."

"She glowed. His words fired her. She would renew those labors."

She said: "I think people are so much happier when they are working for others. You yourself must have a soul-satisfying feeling at the end of your day—or does the day never end? Are you always on call?"

"Practically that. But sometimes it has an unexpected ending—a delightful ending that a hard-worked, humdrum medico never imagined—or doesn't let himself imagine—you understand me?" and he looked at her directly with a warm appreciation in his eyes.

"I'm so glad you're enjoying yourself," the glow mounted. She was on the point of saying that her flat must seem ridiculously small and shabby after his own beautiful apartment—but thought better of it.

For true hospitality needed no apology. And he mustn't ever know that it was for Tarry she had so extended herself primarily! She was glad she'd cooked such a lovely dinner. That her little domain was as clean and shiny as soap and polish and elbow-grease could make it. That the log-fire crackled a cheery welcome. That she'd bought cream for coffee instead of milk. That flowers were everywhere. That she had her new dress on for the occasion, and that apparently he noticed every detail, and was appreciative.

She drew him on to talk about himself. Not so much his present work, but things he had enjoyed in the past. His travels. Hobbies.

Soon she discovered he was interested in archaeology. Her association with her father had given her a smattering of knowledge about that. When Rodney Stone described his first impression of the Parthenon, she could listen intelligently, put in the right questions and comments.

He had toured Greece in its remotest parts. Dreamed in that perfect specimen of a bygone art, the great amphitheatre at Catania. Luxor he had visited too. He had a fund of stories and anecdotes.

"You carry me off on a magic carpet into another world," she sighed.

"I couldn't have a nicer companion, could I?"—as he smiled at the intent young figure curled on the divan beside him. He put out his hand and touched hers, but only for a second.

"You have plenty of friends, naturally. Or do you? But of course you must!" he said.

"Acquaintance? Yes. Real friends? Very few. Often I wonder what is real friendship?"

That led to a discussion of the term. She showed him she had a keen, fresh mind. Ideals, also. The talk drifted to philosophy. When the bells of the church nearby rang out the hour, he stopped to count those chiming, jumped up, exclaiming: "Why, I thought it was no more than nine. It's eleven o'clock!"

She got up too. "I'd no notion of the time either. Didn't it go fast?"

"On wings! Thank you a thousand times for the evening, Miss Moira!"

"And thank you for the parting words!"

"They were my excuse. I wanted to see you. It couldn't," he added enthusiastically, "have turned out nicer!"

He was gone. She returned to the divan. She gazed into the glowing embers of the last log, thinking that indeed it had been a lovely evening. Unexpectedly lovely, in fact.

It was nearing Christmas. An added rush of customers in the beauty parlor Moira's days were filled.

Her evening also. Social workers were needed at the hospital. There were entertainments for the convalescents. Concerts. Trees to be decorated. Gifts to be got ready. Helpers were requisitioned.

"Strikes me," grumbled Tarry, annoyed that Moira was no longer at his beck and call, "that that good looking doctor's at the bottom of your sudden attack of nobility! You wouldn't have this yen for social work if he were an unattractive fellow!"

It was gradually borne in on Moira that Tarry knew a great deal as to hospital affairs. One evening, on her way to a weekly hospital sewing-circle, she had a glimpse of Tarry in a corridor talking with Nurse Emmet.

She knew, of course, that around five or so, he sometimes dropped in on his client, Mrs. Rules.

"For business reasons. Someone else'll get hold of her account if I don't show a little interest."

She realized, now, that he came oftener than he admitted.

"Your persistent beau just sent these flowers," Nurse Emmet told the patient in Moira's presence. Moira was certain Tarry was the donor.

But the words: "persistent beau" gave her a twinge of which she was immediately ashamed.

How weak to be possessive! In this world of suffering, to put oneself and one's personal pride first!

That a hospital is as much a hot-bed for gossip as a beauty-parlor she was, for a time, blissfully unaware.

She was rudely awakened when a convalescent told her that Nurse Emmet hated the very sight of her, because the nurse was crazily in love with the doctor!

Moira, till then, had looked on Nurse Emmet as something of a machine. Swift, tireless, but not quite human.

Yet, from first sight of her with Dr. Stone, she had with woman's instinct, sensed an antagonism.

She had tried to analyze it. In a flash of self-revelation, it came to her that increasingly she counted on her friendship with the doctor. Had she laid herself open to criticism in that friendship?

Her New England ancestry rose up to bolster her self-esteem.

Gossip was hateful. People were hateful with their cheap suspicions. This constant thought of sex—the man-and-woman attitude—brushed the bloom from a fine friendship.

Nurse Emmet thought she was a rival. Imagined that she came here for that one reason!

She'd never set foot again in the hospital! There must be an end to this gossip.

Nurse Emmet had said something to Tarry that had made him change. There was no other explanation of his coolness. And she'd also seen Nurse Emmet in deep conference with Amanda Stone.

The manner of the doctor's sister, always high-hat and never cordial, was doubly stiff, these pre-Christmas days. Amanda had heard the gossip. She had complained to Mrs. Deverney that her best operator, since the burning of her hands, was slow and clumsy.

Ruth Albion had backed her up in that.

Amanda was a schemer. There was a touch of the Machiavellian in her character. She'd set her heart on Ruth and Rodney marrying. No mere beauty-operator would spoil her design.

The girl must lose her job at the beauty-parlor. She went to work on Mrs. Rules. Crass carelessness had been behind the accident. She must bring suit for a large sum. The courts undoubtedly would award it.

Mrs. Rules must be recompensed.

Amanda was in the shop one Friday afternoon. Evelyn Groves was to attend her. Meantime, unaware of her proximity, Moira and Evelyn were arguing in the next booth.

"I tell you it's madness, Evelyn! Someone is sure to see you! The Inn's on the main road to Albany, and on Saturday night it'll be crowded!"

"The more the merrier! If it's a bit dangerous, that'll only add to the sport. I like danger."

The voices were lowered for a moment. Amanda strained her ears.

Then she heard Moira, softly imploring: "If she gets wind of it, you'll lose your job. She's suspicious about him already!"

Amanda instantly put two and two together. Cora's husband—and sly, reckless Evelyn Groves! She'd seen them once or twice outside the beauty-parlor—

Moira repeated quietly, but the words carried to the ears in the next booth: "The Silver Chimes Inn, of all places!"

"I don't care. You're a prude. I like fun."

"Then I'm coming too! Dine if you have to—but I'll see you get home safely."

While Evelyn worked on Amanda, the customer was unusually quiet. But her brains were working fast.

The Silver Chimes Inn was halfway between New York and Albany. It was famous for its cuisine, but it had a giddy reputation. And weren't she and brother Rodney going to Albany for the weekend?

Other people were going as well. Friends were giving a big house-warming dance late Saturday night—it would be convenient to stop for a bite enroute at the Silver Chimes Inn.

Amanda had thought of asking Randall Carlton to join them.

But now she knew a better trick than that. He liked a conquest. Was interested in this Moira.

She'd give him a tip-off! Why shouldn't he go to the Inn to square the triangle?

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 46 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Had she laid herself open to criticism in that friendship?

Her New England ancestry rose up to bolster her self-esteem.

Gossip was hateful. People were hateful with their cheap suspicions.

This constant thought of sex—the man-and-woman attitude—brushed the bloom from a fine friendship.

Nurse Emmet thought she was a rival. Imagined that she came here for that one reason!

She'd never set foot again in the hospital! There must be an end to this gossip.

Nurse Emmet had said something to Tarry that had made him change. There was no other explanation of his coolness—and she'd also seen Nurse Emmet, in deep conference with Amanda Stone.

The manner of the doctor's sister, always high-hat and never cordial, was doubly stiff, these pre-Christmas days. Amanda had heard the gossip. She had complained to Mrs. Deverney that her best operator, since the burning of her hands, was slow and clumsy.

Ruth Albion had backed her up in that.

Amanda was a schemer. There was a touch of the Machiavellian in her character. She'd set her heart on Ruth and Rodney marrying. No mere beauty-operator would spoil her design.

The girl must lose her job at the beauty-parlor. She went to work on Mrs. Rules. Crass carelessness had been behind the accident. She must bring suit for a large sum. The courts undoubtedly would award it.

Mrs. Rules must be recompensed.

Amanda was in the shop one Friday afternoon. Evelyn Groves was to attend her. Meantime, unaware of her proximity, Moira and Evelyn were arguing in the next booth.

"I tell you it's madness, Evelyn! Someone is sure to see you! The Inn's on the main road to Albany, and on Saturday night it'll be crowded!"

"The more the merrier! If it's a bit dangerous, that'll only add to the sport. I like danger."

The voices were lowered for a moment. Amanda strained her ears.

Then she heard Moira, softly imploring: "If she gets wind of it, you'll lose your job. She's suspicious about him already!"

Amanda instantly put two and two together. Cora's husband—and silly, reckless Evelyn Groves! She'd seen them once or twice outside the beauty-parlor—

Moira repeated quietly, but the words carried to the ears in the next booth: "The Silver Chimes Inn, of all places!"

"I don't care. You're a prude. I like fun."

"Then I'm coming too! Dine if you have to—but I'll see you get home safely."

While Evelyn worked on Amanda, the customer was unusually quiet. But her brains were working fast.

The Silver Chimes Inn was halfway between New York and Albany. It was famous for its cuisine, but it had a giddy reputation. And weren't she and brother Rodney going to Albany for the weekend?

Other people were going as well. Friends were giving a big house-warming dance late Saturday night—it would be convenient to stop for a bite enroute at the Silver Chimes Inn.

Amanda had thought of asking Randall Carlton to join them.

But now she knew a better trick than that. He liked a conquest. Was interested in this Moira.

She'd give him a tip-off! Why shouldn't he go to the Inn to square the triangle?

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
